WE publish in another column some correspondence between leading citizens of Nashville and Hon. John M. Bright, Representative from the Fifth Congressional District, in which the distinguished gentleman consents to speak here next Thursday night. Few public men are as familiar as Mr. Bright with the financial and other leading questions which now engage the attention of the county, and still fewer can handle them with the ability and eloquence which have already given him a national reputation. It is safe to predict that our citizens will turn out and make the occasion one ville for the purpose of creating the imand of Nashville.

Memphis, Oct. 26 .- A mass meeting is called to meet at the Greenlaw Opera House to-morrow evening, to take action in regard to the presence of national soldiers in the city on the eve of election, and pe! tition the President to remove them. Memphis Avalanche, Oct. 25.

A detachment of United States infantry is in camp on Vance street. So far as the mere presence of these troops is concerned, it is a welcome one. With rare exceptions, the behavior of regular soldiers is such as to command universal respect. But their presence here is understood to be in connection with the coming election. Why? Our elections are notably quiet and peaceful. Massachuset's does not contain a county freer from political disturbances than Shelby county. Any man, no matter what his color or politics, can vote without fear at any election precinct in which he may reside. There is no reason for sending troops to Memphis that will not apply with equal force to Cincinnati, Boston or

The fact that troops are here, to remain till after the election, is designed by those who sent them to be taken as evidence that they are necessary to secure a fair election. The announcement will go to the country that the presence of soldiers is required in Memphis to enable Republicans to vote; yet there never was an election trouble in the city or county, nor is there the slightest probability of an outbreak of any kind.

These troops did not come without an urgent request. Who made that request? Who declared at Washington that Memphis and Shelby county are lawless; that the presence of troops is essential to the enforcement of the election laws? Did Hon. Barbour Lewis make this representation? He is the official leader of the Radical party in West Tennessee. Without his request or sanction it is not probable that any such outrage would have been committed as that involved in sending troops here with the view of controlling the election. It is understood that Judge Lewis dodges this question. It cannot be successfully and Funder.

GOVERNOR BROWN

He Makes a Notable Speech at Franklin Yesterday.

Ex-President Johnson as an Advocate of the Funding Bill.

Gov. Brown spoke at Franklin to a large audience. He was listened to with marked attention and was frequently applauded. He spoke at length upon the Civil Rights bill and administered to the Republican day, and will address the citizeus of party, and especially to Mr. Maynard, a terrible castigation. He charged Maynard with having written a letter to Judge Houk during the pendency of the Funding bill before the Legislature, advising him to vote for the bill, and stated that, for fear the letter would not reach Honk in time, he telegraphed him to the same effect. The Governor said that Maynard's friends denied this, but that on Saturday last be had charged it on Maynard at him at Athens, Aug. 21, 1866. It i Knoxville, in the presence of Houk, and doing him immense damage in the that it could not be doubted. He also referred to Maynard's negro equality speech, at Athens, in 1866. This, also, is denied by Maynard's friends, but the Governor read the following from the Knoxville Commercial of Sept. 1, 1866, in support of "Six months ago we made the remark hat we believed the Hon. Horace Maynard was an abolitionist and that his whole party were in the direct interest of the abolition negro-equality party. A by-stander boldly denied the assertion. We now call upon every citizen of East Tennessee for a moment to look at the boldly announced Edgefield, to-night, and we hope to see principles of one of your Congressmen. It is altogether too disgusting to admit of comment; we ask, can such things be : "I am an abolitionist, and have always been one. I was accused of being one when I first immigrated to the State. The charge was just; I was full and running over with abolitionism, but I denied it for policy's sake. I am proud today that I have been classed among the persecuted set, and deem it the highest compliment to be denounced as such. And I tell you, gentlemen, that in a short time all this complaint about begro equality will be done away with. Some mouths since, and it was said that the negro would not be suffered to testify in your courts, that his parts would not be manted him. ourts—that his oath would not be granted him, at how stand matters to day? It is the objectiousble to-day, but you will soon get over this, and the persecuted negro will be velcome to your parlors. This will be the re-ult of the political and social changes of the

The Governor also charged that during the pendency of the funding bill ex-President Johnson was in Nashville, and that his friends in the Senate and House voted for the bill without protest from Mr. Johnson, and that by his advice Speaker McGaughey, from his own town, so voted as well as John Blevins and others of his intimate friends; also that Mr. Johnson took the benefit of the law and funded his own bonds, and never raised his voice in opposition until the Radical party had pened the war and rendered the act (as the ex-President supposed) unpopular. The speech seems to have created a marked impression on Gov. Brown's heavers.

The President was called on yesterday by a committee of prominent Republicans. among them Judge Edmunds, Chairman of the National Executive Committee, and Secretary Robeson, with a view to obtain from him an explicit denial of any aspiration for a third term. An account of the interview, given by one of the committee, represents that it was of considerable ength and very much one-sided; that various reasons were urged upon the President why he should declare himself upon the question, and that they only succeeded in getting a response from him that it would be time to decline a nomination when it should be proffered him. Beyond this he sat silent and had nothing to offer.

Special to the Cincinnati Enquirer The Civil Rights Bill Not Dead. The statement made in a promin Western journal that the Civil Rights bill will not pass at the next session of Congress, has no warrant in fact. There was nearly a two-third's majority in the House of Representatives for the bill at the last session, and not one of the members who then supported it has declared his intenparliamentary difficulties in the existing condition of the business of the House, could not be taken from the Speaker's table and passed save by a two-thirds vote; but these impediments growing out of the rules will not obtain at the next session for their homes, and the negroes have gathered Speaker's table and pass the bill. At the years. last session, if the bill had passed, it is believed that Grant would have vetoed it; but since then he has thrown himself into the hands of the carpet-baggers, and has plainly intimated to the notorious Senator Spencer, in a published interview, that he will sign the bill when it is presented. It is barely possible that an overwhelming Democratic majority in the November elections may alarm the Radical managers, and induce them to send the bill to a Committee, to be there quietly smothered; but to secure this result, a strong expression of public sentiment will be necessary. The Renegade Southerners who have sold themselves for offices to the Radical party are in danger of losing their pieces of silver. Harlan's Chronicle says a number of these fellows are not to be trusted, and will be dismissed before the first Monday of December next.

Gen. Garfield has reached here in a blue and demoralized condition. He says that the next House of Representatives will be extremely close. The Republicans hereabouts would compromise on one majority.

Grand Parish, Oct. 20, 1874.—Gentlemen: We have a squad of United States catalry up here; that I am afraid will play the mischief with our prospects. We don't blame the cavalry, for they are soldiers and bave to obey orders. Last night a squad came to my brother's house between midnight and daylight, and arrested him without warrant or authority, took him without warrant or anthority, took him from his wife and two little children the eldest four years old, rode him aroun the country till just before daylight and told him to go home. They had no war-rant for him, but when they came to his use and he told them his name, the Marshal looked at the long list and said he had on or about the 16th day of October, 1874, a warrant for him. The two soldiers that parded him to his stable to get his horse, said, while out there, that they would be ned if they were not tired of this midnight business, and he told me the Lieu tenant along didn't have a word to say, but seemed to be there because he had to be, and he disliked it very much. Peace to be Preserved-Treaty with the United States.

Paris, Oct. 26 .- At the banquet at Bor deaux, the Duke Decasez, Minister of Foreign Affairs, spoke as follows:
"President MacMahon has entrusted me particularly to watch the maintainance of peace with other governments, and I shall not fail. Peace, however, must rest upon a basis compatible with our interests and dignity, namely, the rights of France in respect to international treaties. I claim they have been strictly observed in the past, and I shall faithfully execute them in the future."

The Duke foreshadowed the speedy con clusion of a treaty with the United States insuring more liberal treatment of the commercial interests of the two countries, and said the Government had similar objects in view with regard to the South American

INDIA. Capture of the Supposed Leader the Mutiny of 1857. CALCUTTA, Oct. 25 .- Nena Sahib bas been surrendered into the hands of the British officers by the Maharajah Scinde.

It is understood that the letter from Nena to the Maharajah, asking for protection tain, and led to his capture. In his confession to the political agent prisoner declared mitted that he took a leading part in the mutiny, but denied that he had anything to do with the Cawnpore massacre. He gave an interesting account of his subsequent wanderings in Bhootan, Assam, Bareily. The prisoner, however, after making this confession, sought to withdraw it. Physicians have examined him, and express doubt as to his identity, because his appearance is too youthful. A surgeon who was in Cawnpore at the time of the revolt, and often saw Nana Sahib, failed to recognize the prisoner as the man. Other witnesses have been summoned. Maharajah, of Scinde, at first sought to have it stipulated that the man's life should be saved, but he afterward surrendered him unconditionally to the British, who placed him in irons Bala, a brother of Nena Sahib, has also been captured.
